

I am opposed to the LCTID levy assessment. The taxes on my single rental are already at 9%. To add 3% more for advertising I don't need is pork barreling for a few influential groups. I can see this benefitting a few larger concerns to the cost of smaller businesses.

Furthermore, advertising is not what the county needs. It needs infrastructure repair: safe walking and biking paths along the north shore; lower speed limits on Highway 20; power lines underground to cut down on fires and so that the vistas aren't cluttered with a third world ambiance of poverty.

Sincerely,
Ethan Rose
